Description
It would be very cool to have an inbuilt translator in quassel - maybe referencing from google or babelfish. it could work in that you right click the line/nick part and click "translate from" <select language> and it would translate to your predefined (in quassel settings) language. Of course this is very wishlist, but would be awesome all the same :D

nice idea.

i think that's a good example for what plugins could do :-)
